A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Mr. Thom, who killed Mr. Pitts in Northampton county, Virginia last week, and it will be served as soon as he is able to stand an examination.

Alexander H. Stephens is recovering from his sudden attack of illness and is now able to sit up. Many visitors call to see him, all of whom receive a cordial greeting. In the opinion of Mr. Stephens, the Georgia Congressional delegation is among the ablest, if not the ablest, in the House.

Richmond Whig: Colonel Walter Hanson Jenifer, a distinguished soldier, died on the 9th. He was born in Maryland, entered the United States army during the Mexican war, served with distinction in the Indian war in the Southwest; in the Confederate army; and after the war in the Khedive's army.

In Richmond, Va., on April 9, the Grand Jury in the Hastings Court found presentments against a number of persons, representing nearly all the gambling houses in the city. The gamblers, however, the night before received information of the movement against them, consequently most of them have taken a hasty departure, and it is probable that but few arrests will be made.

Murfreesboro Enquirer: A negro calling himself Israel Savage, was dishing near New Town, near Clarksville, in Halifax county, last week, was arrested by a party who supposed him to be Israel Savage, the man meritoriously who recently broke North Carolina jail and made his escape—then he was taken to Halifax in question, was taken to Halifax to answer for the charge of murder. There is a handsome reward offered for the arrest of Israel Savage, and it is hoped the real Israel may soon be brought to execution—having already been tried and convicted of murder.

Wilmington Review: A great many families in this city are getting new Irish potatoes from their gardens, and green peas are no longer considered a rarity of the season.—We understand that Treasurer Thompson yesterday remitted to England the sum of about fifteen hundred pounds sterling, or its equivalent in foreign exchange, to pay the interest on the bonded debt of the W. & R. R. Company, due on the 1st day of May to English bondholders who hold bonds of the above named Company. It seems to be the general opinion in well-informed circles that the lessens of this company will not pay the dividend to the stockholders, which is now overdue nearly ninety days, but will surrender the lease into the hands of the stockholders about the 15th of this month in compliance with the terms of the lease.

The Directors met at the Gregory House, and after considering various matters, made another thorough examination of the several buildings of the asylum. Col. S. L. Fremont accompanied the Directors by invitation, it being deemed best to get the views of a practical engineer. They met again in the afternoon, and upon the location. We understand that the Directors propose to put up a building as soon as the contract can be given out.—John Shillington, negro, who, at the last term of the Superior Court of Greene county, was tried and convicted, and sentenced to be hanged for the murder of Serena Thompson, his stepdaughter, which occurred in that county in August last, will be hanged in the jail yard at Snow Hill to day, just twen-ty days after his doom was pronounced by the court.

NORTH CAROLINA is not wanting in men equal to the demands and requirements of any public station.

The Democracy of North Carolina went into the campaign of 1876 harmonious and united, and won.

Or all the gentlemen of the Democratic party named in connection with the Supreme Court, not one is unworthy of the position suggested.

If private reputation is the best guarantee to public honor, we should be careful how we contribute to the destruction of the one, if we desire the promotion and perpetuation of the other.

Neither individual preference, local ambition, nor the personal aspirations of any man must impede the progress or hinder the destiny of the Democratic party in North Carolina.

The fullest and freest discussion of the merits of proposed candidates for public office is eminently proper; but it is not well to detract from the merits of one gentleman in the effort to praise another.

It would be comforting to believe and console to know that the Republican party in this State was dead; and it may be popular to say so, but the enemies of law and order in North Carolina are too numerous to warrant the slightest relaxation of discipline or diligence in the Democratic ranks.

This Democracy in this State is not really in the situation of a boy with a pocket full of rocks and nothing to throw them at. There will be plenty of bushwhackers to fight, if not some regular forces to encounter. It would be prudent to husband our resources, train for the fray, and keep our powder dry.

It has been suggested that the next County Convention nominate a man for the Legislature who can and will talk to the people from the stump about the analysis of the soil of Wake, to the end that such interest may be awakened on the subject as will lead to three analyses of the soil from each township, soils classified, and published formulas made of the same, by which the farmers can make a good and cheap fertilizer at home, to suit the soils and crops of the county.

As Eastern correspondent wants to know what will be the plan of voting in the next State Convention. Whether counties will cast their votes according to their representation in the lower House, or by the party strength in the respective counties. The Democratic way has been to vote the counties according to their Democratic voting strength. We presume this plan will be adhered to at the next Convention. The Republicans, on the other hand, have always voted in accordance with representation in the House of Representatives; and while they have preferred that plan, and seemed to have gotten along very well under it in all their conventions, the Democrats choose the other. Opinion in both parties is somewhat divided on the subject. It is perhaps a pertinent matter for present discussion.

NORTH CAROLINA is one of the best watered States of the Union. With our extended coast, immense sound waters, numerous rivers and smaller streams penetrating every portion of the State, it would be an easy matter to sustain the whole population on fish. With such superior facilities, a cheap and abundant fish-supply becomes a matter of the first public consideration—the propagation of fish, of every species, a matter of the greatest importance to the State. We must have, at the next meeting of a Fish Commission, working under, but separate from the Agricultural Department, and presided over by an expert in the propagation and protection of fish. We must avail ourselves of the best advantages nature has given us, and in respect to our fish make that interest one of the leading industries, as well for export as home consumption. This is one of our chief sources of undeveloped wealth. It must be attended to.

The passage in the Senate, by a vote of 40 to 19, of the Pacific Railroad Sinking Fund Bill, indicates pretty clearly that the day of domination of legislative bodies by giant corporations and grinding monopolies has drawn to a close. It is about time it was so. The people have suffered long enough. Now let Congress press on and pass the legislation preserving the ratio between through and local freights in all the States. This bill provides that as local freights go up, through freights shall rise correspondingly; and as through rates reduce, so shall local rates come down. In no other way can the people be saved from competing points by protected, and their local industries revived, and home enterprises fostered. Under such legislation unfair combinations and unjust discriminations will cease. Congress clearly has the right to regulate commerce between the States, and no other power can provide the needed uniform legislation touching commerce over all the railroads of the country.

The present and prospective low price of cotton ought to suggest to our people the propriety of spinning the staple and seeking the markets of the world with the fabrics instead of the raw material. Profit lies not now in the production of cotton, but rather in the labor put into it between the field and the store-shelves and counter. As a money crop cotton has lost its former position, and its production now sustains comparatively a small proportion of population; it opens an extended field for industry, offers to the great majority no congenial employment, and practically excludes women and children from the race of life, to whom spinning and weaving would be cheerful and compensating labor; and thus utilizing and compensating the waste-epochs of the State; a new demand for all the other native productions of our soil would be created, stimulating and rendering profitable the fullest possible food production; other branches of manufacturing would multiply, every line of trade would increase, and North Carolina would take her proper place as a great agricultural, manufacturing and commercial State.

A WAKE county communication, signed "Many Tar-Hell Democrats," but bearing no other signature, complains that the City Weighers of cotton fall short of the gin weights, "caused by wet bagging, the Weigh Master not knowing how much to deduct." "All we ask is that the merchants receive our sealed weights as we receive them, a ticket to accompany each bale, with number and weight, signed by the ginmer."

It is contrary to our rule to take notice of communications unaccompanied by responsible names, but as this is a matter that can do no harm, casts no reflection, and the omission doubtless an accident, we give this much attention to this local matter, in the hope that some of our merchants will answer the complaint, and satisfy all concerned that the cotton weighing in this market is as fair as it can possibly be made; and that the regulations of trade make it absolutely necessary to have public and disinterested weighers, otherwise Raleigh would degenerate as a cotton market, to the infinite hurt of the entire county and section of country; and that it is utterly impracticable for our merchants, who buy cotton on orders from Northern houses, to take other than the weights of the public weigher.

The Primary Campaign.
The discussion which has obtained through the newspapers as to the respective merits of gentlemen named for the Supreme Court discloses that the people are keenly alive to their interest in filling the public offices of the State.

The Supreme Court is the most sacred institution in North Carolina. The highest judicial tribunal, it is the last safeguard to the rights, liberties, property and lives of the people. To the citizen it is of next importance to all these. Upon the constitution of that court depends more of the welfare, honor and prosperity of North Carolina than upon any power the people have ever seen in their midst for their government, national welfare and protection. Appreciating these facts it is well that the people approach their duty with serious consideration and solemn thought.

This is the first time that the Democracy of the State has ever been charged with the duty of creating a Supreme Court of their choice by popular election. Ten years ago this duty was devolved not upon the real governing class of North Carolina. Our liberties at that day were not of the largest; our choice was not consulted,—our preferences treated with no respect. We were compelled to accept whatever was given us, prepared for the worst, hoping for the best.

But the situation has changed. The government of the State has devolved now upon us, and the people are prepared to accept nothing that is not good. The Judges whom we present for the Supreme Court must be the best men for the place in the State. The Court must be absolutely above every suspicion of evil or fault as far as human fallibility permits. Representing the highest integrity of the law, we Judges must be selected under the full sense that in our government, as in every other civilized government, the law has no superior.

The Supreme Court is not the place where to pension one party, or reward friends, Restricted to their selection to the legal profession, mere personal preference or admiration cannot safely be allowed to influence the people's choice. It is neither expected nor required that the people shall choose a political nonentity for Judge. In our government no man is without political affinity and party bias, and these in no sense disqualify one for a Judge; and we are expected to choose from the ranks of the Democratic party. But we must choose the highest order of men among us, those whose legal knowledge, character and abilities pre-eminently fit them for the high and sacred duties of the Supreme Court.

The State is not wanting in men of this description. We have abundant material for a Supreme Court. Our bar has never stood second to that of any sister State. We are not apprehensive that good selections will not be made. We are only anxious that the choice of the people shall be the very best.

The Most Precious of Gifts.
Health is undeniably a more precious gift than riches, honor or power. Who would exchange it for these? The gift of health is a boon to the individual, and a blessing to the community. It is the foundation of all success in life, and the key to all happiness. Without health, all other pursuits are vain, and all other pleasures are empty. Therefore, let us all strive to preserve and improve our health, for it is the most precious of gifts.

From Thomas S. Easton, M. D., New Orleans.

Spring.
The spring has come, and with it the joy of the people. The sun is shining, the birds are singing, and the flowers are blooming. It is a glorious sight, and we are all rejoicing in it.

A woman along the hills, in the dark that thrills, the soul of the spring has gone into the land, and the joy of the people is a glory of light and love.

GENERAL NOTES.

Two taxes sleeping and dining cars. California has refused to let women practice law.

San Francisco has about one hundred building houses.

It is said Mr. Bergh's sympathy for pigs doesn't mitigate his appetite for them.

It appears by a recent report that 88,000 children are employed in factories in Germany.

It is stated as a curious fact that not a female figure is to be found in any of Meissonier's pictures.

The statistics of Ohio for 1877 show 2,120,010 hogs, or half a hog for every man, woman and child.

Austria's peace establishment is put at 27,000 men, and 42,000 horses.

During the last decade $100,000,000, derived from confiscated church property sold at auction, have been paid into the treasury of Italy.

As late as 1850 whipping-posts still were standing in Connecticut, on which the Puritan Fathers used to whittle the "little wooden Yankees."

The little island of St. Bartholomew in the West Indies, having been bought by France from Sweden for $100,000 was formally ceded March 16.

The decree of the Captain General of Cuba cancels the restriction to owners of all property embargoed for political offences shall commence immediately.

After July next telegrams throughout France are to cost one cent (fraction less than a cent) a word, but those containing more than ten words will be charged ten cents.

The Post-Office Department, during 1877, issued 68,581,007 ordinary letter stamps. This shows a more than three-fold increase since 1859, when 192,201,000 stamps were issued.

The bill to suppress pot-smellings on trains and trading excises introduced into the Ohio Legislature was defeated, receiving only thirty-five votes in its favor in the Lower House.

The Prince of Wales created a great sensation at a fancy dress ball in Paris recently, by appearing as Robinson Crusoe in his dress of skins and accompanied by the traditional umbrella.

Lord Kinsale is the only peer who can remain in the presence of the British sovereign with his head covered on occasions of state. The privilege was conferred by King John in the thirteenth century.

A philanthropic Belgian has offered $50,000 francs to the Government of his country, to be employed in educating the children of persons who have been killed through accidents on railways.

Skirmishing also is apparently a regular feature in England. A cockney named Morgan Weeks has been sent up for three months, with hard labor, and it came out in hearing his case that the man is a very brave fellow.

Because, like scalps, catkins retain the natural gloss of its fur only when taken from the living animal.

At the request of the Indian Office, the Secretary of War has ordered the release of the Cheyenne and other Indians imprisoned at St. Augustine. These Indians have been confined several years, and three chiefs have died. Their long imprisonment is considered sufficient punishment for their crimes. They will be sent to Fort Sill, I. T.

From January 1, 1877, up to the present time, about five hundred applications for divorce have been instituted in the city of St. Louis, and of these over two hundred and fifty have been granted. In nearly two-thirds of the cases, the wife is the petitioner, and the grounds of divorce are adultery, habitual drunkenness, vagrancy, cruel treatment and the offering of intolerable indignities.

An odd controversy is going on in London. The manager of the Oxford University press having prodded for spelling "pony" in the prayer-book with one "n," responded that he was compelled by law to follow the text of the "sealed book," which gave "pony." Then came another correspondent, and enquired why "the sealed book" was not followed in such cases as "erre," "sovereign," "blood," "soldiers," "virtue" and "cattle," and why the modern prayer-book used the old form, "cloke," whereas "the sealed book" employed the modern form "cloak?"

French justice after the fall of the Paris Commune had the spirit of the National vengeance. As Grenville Murray tells the story in one of his graphic articles in the Daily News, the masses either fought from ignorance or against their will. These men were not rapacious, and had nothing to do with the burning of houses and the shooting of hostages which disgraced the last days of the civil war, and which are known to have been the work of a few hundred fanatics, habitual criminals and common law.

There is no stating exactly how many men were shot on the barricades or summarily executed after the rebellion had been quelled, for between the Communists themselves, who say 25,000, and the Conservatives, who say 6,500, there is a considerable divergence. But courts-martial were at work for two years condemning alleged insurgents to death, imprisonment, or transportation, and many of the prisoners died nothing more than receive pay from the Commune without having been tried at all. M. Lissagany in his "History of the Commune" says down a total of 13,450 men and women as having been tried and condemned as rebels. During the last two years 2,500 pardons have been granted; and as about 2,000 who have been released from imprisonment of less than three years have served out their terms, it may be computed that over 7,000 Communists are still suffering in New Caledonia.
